The need for intelligent system technology in solving real-life problems has been consistently growing. In order to address this need, researchers in the field have been developing methodologies and tools to develop intelligent systems for solving complex problems. The International Society of Applied Intelligence (ISAI) through its annual IEA/AIE conferences provides a forum for international scientific and industrial community in the field of Applied Artificial Intelligence to interactively participate in developing intelligent systems, which are needed to solve twenty-first century's ever growing problems in almost every field. The 23rd International Conference on Industrial, Engineering and Other Applications of Applied Intelligence Systems (IEA/AIE-2010) held in Cordoba, Spain, followed IEA/AIE tradition of providing an international scientific forum for researchers in the field of applied artificial intelligence. The presentations of the invited speakers and authors mainly focused on developing and studying new methods to cope with the problems posed by real-life applications of artificial intelligence. Papers presented in the twenty-third conference in the series covered theories as well as applications of intelligent systems in solving complex real-life problems. We received 297 papers for the main track, selecting 119 of them with the highest quality standards. Each paper was revised by at least three members of the Program Committee. The papers in the proceedings cover a wide number of topics including: applications to robotics, business and financial markets, bio-formatics and biomedicine, applications of agent-based systems, computer vision, control, simulation and modeling, data mining, decision support systems, evolutionary computation and its applications, fuzzy systems and their applications, heuristic optimization methods and swarm intelligence, intelligent agent-based systems, internet applications, knowledge management and knowledge based systems, machine learning, neural network applications, optimization and heuristic search, and other real-life applications.
